Paul -

My apologies for the delay in responding to your inquiry of earlier today regarding the jurisdictional determination on the Cargill Redwood City Salt Plant. Upon receipt of your inquiry (included below), I shared your questions with my managers and colleagues in our Water Division. We will get back to you with a response to your questions as soon as it is available. I am out of the office this afternoon at 3:30pm PT and out all day on Friday, however, my colleague, Suzanne Skadowski, who is one of our Press Officers and my backup when I am out of the office will be getting back to you with a response in my absence. We hope to get this to you either later today or tomorrow at the latest. Suzanne's contact information is as follows:

Hi Brent, I just tried to call you but am going to be traveling this afternoon so will be away from my phone for the rest of the weekend. Can you just tell me, does this letter automatically suspend the Army Corps' ongoing jurisdictional determination process and bring it instead under the EPA's purview? If so, do you have any sense of the approximate timeframe for this kind of determination?

Thanks,
Paul
